

PRIVACY POLICY

Our company is committed to protecting your confidential information. Our privacy policy clarifies what information we collect about you, how we use the information we collect about you, how you can tell us if you prefer to limit the use of such information.

By submitting your information, you consent to the use of such information in accordance with this privacy policy. If we change our privacy policy, any changes will be posted on this page without prior notice.

1. What kind of personal data do we collect about you?

We collect information about users of our website in several ways, including using identification files that are stored in the client system, by registering, as well as through e-mails sent to us through our website. The information collected includes the following:

- if you send us a message by e-mail, you automatically tell us the address of your mailbox, as well as other personal information included in the text of your message.
- if you call our technical support center, or leave a voice message, you agree to tell us your name, contact phone number, your email address, as well as any other personal data that you agree to provide to our technical specialists, with so that our technicians can respond to your request.

We collect and save information from all visitors to our website, which they either actively make available to us, or during their simple viewing of our website: computer network address (IP), browser type, type of operating system, date and the time of access to our website, the address of the Internet resource from which the user was redirected to our website. We use such information to track the traffic to our website, to count the number of visitors on different sections of the website, and to make our website more useful.

2. What do we do with the information we collect?

We use personal data to provide you with the services that you ask us to provide.

Unless you notify us that you no longer wish to receive this kind of information, we may periodically inform you about our products and services. By providing us with your personal data by e-mail or telephone, you therefore agree to our use of your information in the manner specified in this clause.

We can conduct statistical analyzes of user behavior (for example, by analyzing data on website use passively coming from all users) in order to determine the relative degree of consumer interest in various sections of our website. Such an analysis will help us in our efforts to further improve the product.

3. With whom do we share the information we collect?

We will provide your personal data if required by law, including at the request of the courts, by order of the court, when summoned to the courts as a witness, or in accordance with other requirements of federal, regional or municipal laws.

We can transfer statistical data to third parties in a summary form without disclosing any personal data of our users.

4. How can you refuse to receive information from us?

If you do not want us to contact you about our products or services, you can inform us about this either at the time you provide us with your contact information, or at any other time by sending an email through the contact form on our website cryptodolau.com .

5. Links to third party websites

As a service, we can provide you with links to websites operated by third parties. Such third parties use their own data collection system. We are not responsible for their data collection practices, as well as for the content of their sites. We advise you to carefully study the degree of confidentiality on all websites, including those accessible via the links from this page.

6. What protections are used to protect your information?

All information concerning you stored on our web server is placed in closed databases and protected by a number of technical means of access control.